

PCSS student shines at recent Provincial Skills Competition

May 2010

Adam Delman recently won a Gold medal at the provincial Skills Canada competition for Architectural Drafting. Adam is 14 years old and in grade 10 at Prince Charles Secondary School in Creston. He has been taking various computer courses with technology teacher, Mr. Jim Christiansen, for the past three years. Adam is off to the national championships in Waterloo Ontario as part of Team BC.

PCSS has a long history of students winning regional competitions and medaling at provincial competitions for metalwork, construction, drafting, cabinet making, webpage design and mechanical drafting. This is our second gold medal and second national competitor. After winning gold in 2002, Grant Lankhaar finished 2nd at the national competition for carpentry.
